

Although the MOH has indicated this program is retroactive to April 1, 2006 is there an actual start date to begin the process?

This new insulin pump and supplies program is scheduled to begin early December. Please contact your Pediatric Diabetes Centre after December 1st, for details.

We understand the program is retroactive to April 1, 2006 for both pumps and pump supplies, who do we contact in order to start the process for reimbursement as we had to already purchase an insulin pump and or supplies for our children?

This reimbursement process will begin at the same time as the program for new pumps, please watch for further details on the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care (MOHLTC), Assistive Devices Program (ADP) website at the following link:

You must still work with your Diabetes Pediatric Centre who will have complete details after December 1st, 2006.

We understand that insulin pumps under this program will be covered 100%, we do not have to pay a co-payment, however how do I start the process to see if we can get coverage for an insulin pump and or supplies for our children?

As with the first question, please contact your Pediatric Diabetes Centre after December 1st, for complete details and process information.

You may also visit the following MOHLTC – Assistive Devices Program link for information regarding the program. Use the link below.
